

ESSE-9
(The European Society for the Study of English)
Seminar: “Literary Journalism and the Canon”
Aarhus Universitet, Aarhus, Denmark
22–26 August 2008

Co-sponsor: International Association for Literary Journalism Studies

Seminar 32: Literary Journalism and the Canon

Dr. John S. Bak (University of Nancy 2)
E-mail: Email: john.bak@univ-nancy2.fr

Dr. David Abrahamson (Northwestern University)
E-mail: d-abrahamson@northwestern.edu

Seminar 32, Session 1

Norman Sims (University of Massachusetts Amherst, U.S.A.), “History and the Literary Journalism ‘Canon’”

Seminar 32, Session 2

John C. Hartsock (SUNY—Cortland, U.S.A.), “Literary Journalism: Transnational Influencings”

Seminar 32, Session 3

Bill Reynolds (Ryerson University, Canada), “The Origin of Canadian Literary Journalism: Clues, Signposts, Evidence”

Seminar 32, Session 4

Isabelle Meuret (Université Libre de Bruxelles, Belgium), “From Political Fictions to Fixed Ideas: Joan Didion’s Unhidden Agenda”

Seminar 32, Session 5

Anastasia Cholivatu (Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece), “Examples of Literary Journalism in The Greek Press”

Seminar 32, Session 6

Viviane Serfaty (Université Paris-Est Marne la Vallée), “War Blogs as Literary Journalism”